

SPOILERS 2025 - INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM

NO MICROBIAL
SPOILERS IN FOOD

24-26 JUNE 2025

Quimper, France

SPONSORING OPPORTUNITIES

ear exhibitors and sponsors,

Even if only one remains... that's enough to spoil food and cause major economic losses.

Super spoilers are always on alert! The biodiversity of bacterial and fungal spoilers is constantly evolving, impacted by climate change, new agricultural practices and food processing practices.

How can we identify them? How can we predict their behavior? How do we fight them?

It is with great pleasure that we welcome you to Quimper, land of legends, crêpes and kouign-amann, for this new edition of our international conference. Get ready to dive into the fascinating world of Spoily and his minions, and meet the challenges posed by these invisible but challenging enemies.

Our conference will focus on three key areas:

- Biodiversity of contaminating microorganisms
- Physiology and metabolism of contaminants
- How to fight contaminants?

The challenge of this new edition of «Microbial Spoilers In Food» is to bring together scientists, food quality and production managers, and food innovation project leaders, to exchange knowledge and experience on this crucial subject.

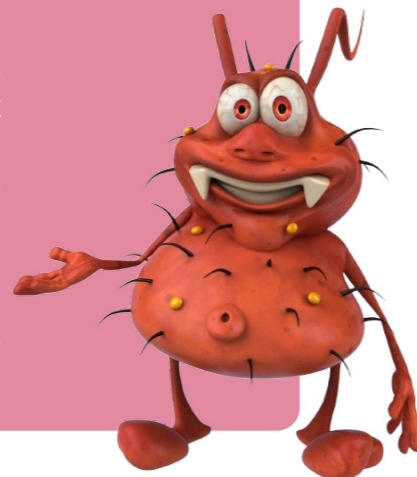

Welcome to Quimper, we look forward to fruitful discussions, exciting discoveries and future collaborations!

The Organizing Committee

AS A BUSINESS PARTNER ...

You may benefit from all scientific communications during the congress, find opportunities to meet leaders in this field and potential international customers and develop business and partnership opportunities.

By associating your name to spoilers 2025, the image of your company will be reinforced towards the main actors involved in food quality and safety.

Can't wait to see you !

THE EVENT

Congress participants include numerous internationally recognized scientists, academicians and representatives from the public and private sectors.

The past editions gathered between 130 and 160 participants in Quimper, coming from 18 to 24 different countries.

Food science engineers, microbiologists, and veterinarians active in the food sector, and well-known companies engaged in food production and research activities are invited to attend.

Representatives from other sectors related to foodstuffs; researchers & representatives from local governments and/or administration, food analysis laboratories and representatives from food equipment manufacturing companies are invited to the event.
